

Art and soul at All Soulsâ??

All Soulsâ?? Church in St Peters is proud to host seven talented artists in the 2022 SALA (South Australian Living Artists) Festival in August, in an exhibition entitled Art and Soul at All Souls.

The Norwood Payneham St Peters Council awarded the church a Community Grant in order to participate in SALA and mount the exhibition.

Artist Nicola Fereday and one of her works that will be on sale

In celebration of the International Year of Glass, the artists participating include well- known glass artists Aemonn Vereker and Julie Frahm.

Aemonnâ??s work captures the colours of Australian landscapes from the Outback, rainforest, Flinders Ranges, and deserts to the Barrier Reef.

Julie recycles glass to make jewellery and said she has been inspired to make 1,000 red glass beads by All Soulsâ?? â??magnificent [William Morris] stained-glass windows and in particular the angels with red wingsâ?•.

Other artists will exhibit works in a range of media including pen and ink, acrylic, pastel, watercolour and mixed media.

The exhibition will be opened on the afternoon of Saturday 13th August when some artists will speak briefly about their artwork and their artistic inspirations.

The show will run until Sunday 28 August, and many artworks will be available for purchase.

For details on the artists participating in Art and Soul at All Souls and the specific days when the exhibition will be open, go to: https://www.allsoulsstpeters.org.au/sala/

Date Created
July 28, 2022